LOUIS LA CHAPELLE, OUR DADDY

Born in Riddell, La. to Louis and Laurentine

October 14, 1907 to September 26, 1992

As a child he lived in Jean Reed. He had a deprived childhood. It was "root poor hog or die". At age sixteen he arrived in Raywood to stay with his Mom's brother, Uncle Peter Verrette. He worked for people in the area in sawmills, rice fields and general farm work. He courted cousin Ella for five years. He married Moma at 23. She was 17.

In 1940 during pre-combine rice harvest he was sacksower behind the threshing machine at 3 cents a sack. I (Paul) was driving our mules and fed the separator with the grain. He also worked in the warehouse where he received a broken collarbone as a twenty foot high stack of rice sacks fell on him.

Daddy was basically a self-contained farmer until the early 50's. Coffee, rice, and sugar was bought. Almost everything else came from the farm. As a farmer he raised sorghum, hay, corn, and potatoes. (Moma raised all the cane). We sold mayhaws to the Bama company. He had cash crops of cumbers, string beans, cotton, and pepper. In the winter he trapped mink, coons, fox, hunted squirrels, ducks, geese and whatever else he could find out there.

As a food provider he had chickens, ducks, geese, hogs, cows, dogs for hunting and cats for Moma and mice. He always had a garden and in his retirement years he expanded this to the finest okra farm in Raywood. Cement finishing brought in many a paycheck after he quit farming. He was very proud of his cement work on the I-10 Trinity River bridge.

As the first cold snap approached, Daddy was always ready to butcher a hog. He enjoyed his meats very much and always had a hog ready for butchering. After meat was shared with neighbors and passed around, the rest was cured into bacon, sausage and ham. He was a true woodsman and loved blonde gully and the big thicket. Many long hours of fun and fishing took place there. Daddy, Papou, Uncle Nicholas, Cousin Jack, Uncle Brod, and Uncle Wilfred formed a formidable team. They were close and would see each other often, drinking together, playing cards, dominoes and so on. Daddy would provide our house for family dances, promoted by Gump, Hamilton, Albert and others. Daddy provided our home for a number of wedding receptions, some of which he stimulated and encouraged by his fortune telling with the cards. Daddy loved poker and craps, often with Mom's strong disapproval. However, he was very charitable and when B.. lost his whole paycheck, daddy gave him back $50 dollars.

Daddy prayed only in French and knew that we could be successful if we learned English well. He told us stories in French and English. He insisted we not miss school for farm work. So many spoke of his wisdom even though he was without formal schooling. In fact he couldn't read or write. His wisdom was apparent in the stories he told us as children. Morals of the stories, related to greed, getting along, getting even, rewards of hard work, etc. When he was in Rome in 1964 for Bill's Ordination, some of the brothers and Priest were astounded by the stories he told them.

Daddy was healthy most of his life and didn't see a doctor until his sixties. While dominoes provided him with long hours of fun, diabetes was crippling his heart and body functions. He was surrounded by the love and care of family, friends and nurses who loved him and will miss his gentle loving spirit. His deep sensitivity to any problems was matched by his many practical skills in every day life. Over his life time he made knives, built wagons, built a house, built our barn, crafted jigs for rope making, made chairs and divining rods. Although many a hole was found by big oak trees he never found his chest of gold. Thank God he passed on some of his common sense intuitions to us. Little did he realize that he had passed on much more than any chest of gold ever could provide.

Good by daddy. We miss you. We hope to join you soon.
